Quantfury Trading USA offers commission-free trading for securities transactions. This means we do not charge a separate commission when you buy or sell securities through our platform. Quantfury Trading USA may also earn revenue from other services related to brokerage accounts.

What are your legal obligations to me when providing recommendations? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

Quantfury Trading USA provides brokerage services on a self-directed basis and does not make investment recommendations. However, the way we earn money may still create conflicts of interest that you should understand.

Here are some examples to help you understand what this means:

Our clearing firm or the trading venues used to execute your trades may provide payments related to order routing. This creates a conflict of interest because it may create an incentive to route orders to venues that provide such payments.

We may earn interest on cash balances held in customer accounts or through arrangements with our clearing firm or banks that hold customer cash. This creates a conflict of interest because we may have an incentive to hold customer cash in arrangements that generate revenue for us.

We may receive payments related to order routing (sometimes called payment for order flow) from market makers or trading venues that execute customer orders. This creates a conflict of interest because it may create an incentive for us to route orders to venues that provide such payments.
